Tokyo Says Knox Is Offering Sheer Bluff to Scare Japan

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—An immediate American blockade of Japan was proposed today by Senator Pepper (D., Fla.) as an answer to Tokyo's expansion plans—plans that Secretary of the Navy Knox said might lead to a "collision" in the Far East.

(In the Far East, the Japanese press declared Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox's forecast of an inevitable "collision" with Japan unless she abandons her expansion plans was sheer American bluff.

"Knox is trying to bluff Japan," said the newspaper Hochi. "We are carrying on Japan's decided policies regardless of bluffing by Americans."

Domei, the authoritative Japanese news agency, quoted informed Tokyo sources as saying that the crisis to which Knox referred was caused by the United States' own actions toward Japan.

Agreeing with Knox's statement that the situation in the Pacific was "extremely strained," Pepper told reporters he believed the time had come to institute a blockade cutting off all war supplies that might be consigned to Japan from any source.

"We ought to see to it," Pepper declared, "that Japan gets no materials from outside sources that will fatten her for further conquests."

Manner of Accomplishment

This could be accomplished, he predicted, by halting all exports to Japan, closing the Panama Canal to ships bound for Japanese ports, and launching a naval patrol of the Pacific sea lanes.

Knox told a group of defense manufacturers yesterday that American officials were satisfied in their own minds that the Japanese had no intention of giving up their plans for Far Eastern expansion, adding bluntly:

"If they pursue that course, a collision there is inevitable."

Pepper, who has advocated "imobilizing" Japan as a part of this country's efforts to aid nations fighting the Axis powers, said he was satisfied that the Japanese were following a pattern laid down by Hitler.

"Hitler is moving just as much in Japan as he is on the Russian front," he declared. "The Japanese are getting ready to put a 'squeeze play' on Russia and we ought to act before they get any stronger."

Doesn't Understand Knox

However, another member of the Senate foreign relations committee, Senator LaFollette (Prog.-Wis.), said he was at a loss to understand Knox's statement in the light of recent developments.

"If the situation in the Far East has reached the point described by the secretary," LaFollette said, "the American people and Congress are entitled to know what

Producers Ask Pay Boost for Shipped Milk as Retail Price Jumps

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 25 (AP)—Upstate producers moved today for an increased return on milk shipped to the New York city market while consumers learned of a half-cent rise in the home-delivered product.

Two of the city's largest milk companies—Sheffield Farms and the Borden's Farm Products Division of the Borden Company—said the new price, 17 cents a quart, would be effective Sunday. It was due, they added, to a recent wage increase of $2.50 a week to their employees.

Counsels for five major milk producing organizations, meanwhile, drafted in Syracuse a tentative petition to be submitted to the federal government. It is designed to bring higher returns to the 60,000 farmers in the six-state New York milk shed.

Fish Secretary Is Cited on Perjury Counts at Capital

Employee of Representative for 20 Years Listed as Key Man for Foreign Agents

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—George Hill, bespectacled secretary in the office of Rep. Fish (R., N. Y.) for 20 years, was under indictment today charged with perjury before a grand jury which has been looking into the activities of foreign agents in general and Nazi representatives in particular.

Fish, ranking minority member of the House foreign affairs committee, was quick to come to the defense of his staff member, saying from New York that "I'll back George Hill to the limit on anything."

But William Power Maloney, special assistant to the attorney general, said Hill was "the key man here in Washington in the distribution through the mail and under government frank of propagandistic literature master-minded by foreign agents."

Hill was accused of departing from the truth in testifying about the disposition of mail bags alleged to have contained franked envelopes and speeches of members of Congress opposed to the

Connors Fatally Injured in Crash

Was Attending College in Virginia; Others Are Reported Killed

Arthur Connors, 2nd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Connors of Larchmont, was killed in an automobile accident last night at Charlottesville, Va., according to word received this morning by A. Carr and Son of 1 Pearl street.

The youth was a student in the University of Virginia, and was the grandson of Arthur Connors of Pelham Manor where the body will be taken for funeral services.

The grandfather is a former resident of this city, residing on St. James street, and for years was engaged in the ship building business on the Island Dock with the late John D. Schoonmaker, under the name of Connors & Schoonmaker.

Funeral arrangements for the youth will be made later and burial will be in Wiltwyck cemetery, this city.

As far as could be learned there were three killed in the accident and one seriously hurt. No other car was involved as it was reported that the auto in which Connors was riding could not negotiate a turn in the road.

Officer's Car Stolen

Policeman Grover Hoffay of the Kingston police department, while attending the movies with his wife Friday night had his 1939 Plymouth coach stolen from the parking grounds on Field Court. He had parked the car at 9 o'clock that evening and when he returned for it after the show was over it was to find the car gone. A general alarm was sent out by the police department, but up to this morning the stolen car had not been found.

Roosevelt Awaits Coal Boss' Reply

President Fosters Hope John L. Lewis Would Call Off Projected Mine Strike

Request Is Made

F. D. R. Proposes Lewis and Myron C. Taylor Handle Negotiations

(By The Associated Press)

President Roosevelt today awaited John L. Lewis' reply to a White House request for cancellation of a midnight strike call affecting 53,000 workers in "captive" coal mines owned by steel companies in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Kentucky and Alabama.

Lewis, president of the C. I. O. United Mine Workers, gave no immediate indication of his course of action after the president's request was made public last night.

Should the walkout occur at midnight tonight, as scheduled, there were fears that a fuel shortage might affect important defense production and even eventually tie up steel plants.

But as the captive mine dispute approached a showdown, defense officials welcomed word of settlement of a long-standing strike at the Bendix, N. J., plant of Air Associates, Inc. High federal officials announced that the plant management had agreed to return striking employees to the payroll Monday.

The only issue in the captive mine controversy was the United Mine Workers' insistence upon a union shop contract—that is, a requirement that any miner employed in the steel companies' coal mines join the U. M. W. after a probationary period.

The President not only asked that Lewis call off the strike, but proposed that Lewis and Myron C. Taylor, former board chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, take the lead in direct negotiations were required to settle the difference between operators and miners.

Plans Are Recommended

Earlier, the Defense Mediation Board announced that it had not been able to bring about a "meeting of minds" in conferences with the disputants, but recommended these alternative plans for settlement:

That the question be submitted to the complete mediation board, under an advance agreement that the board's decision would be accepted.

That each party appoint negotiators and agree that if the negotiations did not produce a settlement the negotiators should select an arbitrator whose decision would be final.

Mr. Roosevelt's intervention in the dispute coincided with reports that major steel plants had only two to six weeks reserve supply of coal.

The agreement reached last night covering the Air Associates plant at Bendix, N. J., ended a 25-day strike, which, for the past two days, had been marked by mass picketing and some violence.

The firm has about $5,000,000 in orders for aviation parts needed in the national defense program. The settlement was announced by Robert Patterson, undersecretary of war, and William S. Knudsen, director of the Office of Production Management.

The latest walkout at the factory was called September 30 by a group of C. I. O. workers who charged the company with unfair labor practices and failure to sign a contract. The management attempted to keep the plant in operation but was forced to shut down yesterday.

Proposes Settlement

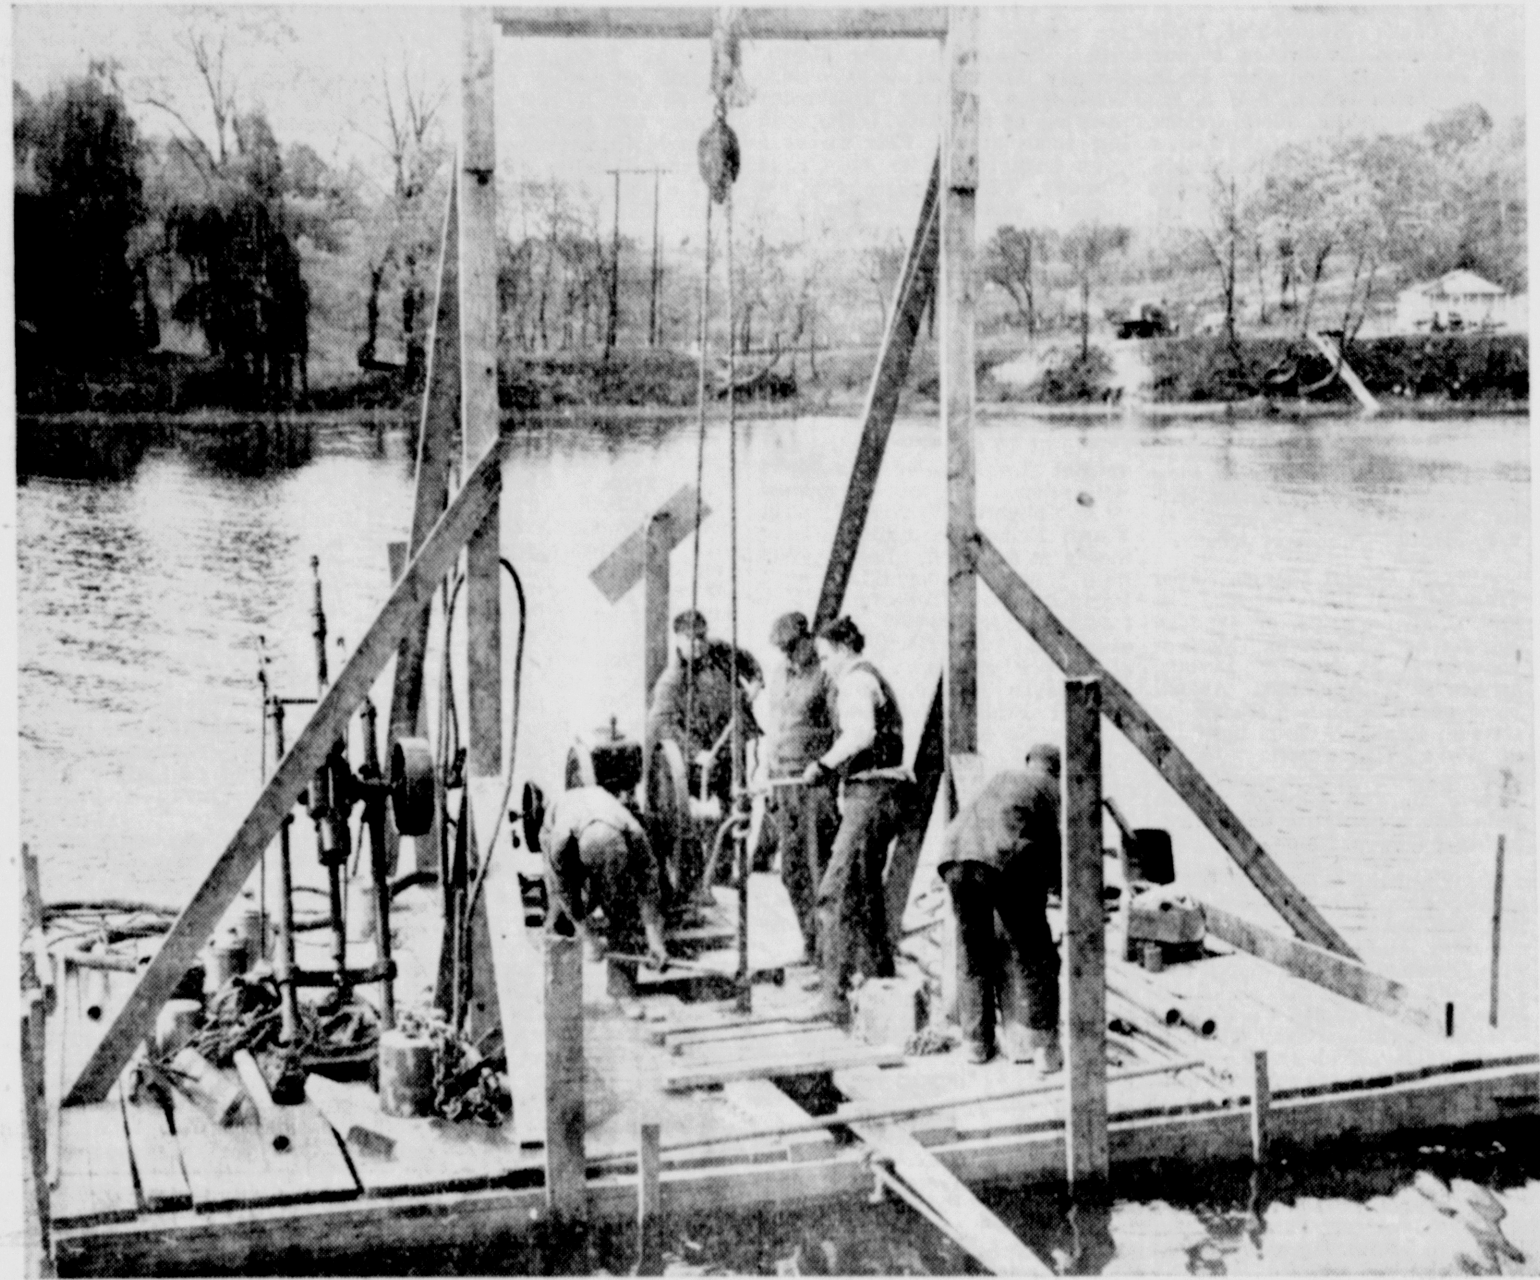

The mediation board considered the dispute and proposed a settlement which included immediate reinstatement of the strikers, but to this the company's president demurred.

At Findlay, O., A. F. L. machinists voted to end their strike against the Buckeye Traction and Ditcher Company, which holds contracts for $3,000,000 worth of gun mounts and tank parts. The walkout was called Thursday in a dispute over a union shop clause in the machinists' contract.

Eighteen steamship companies represented by the American Merchant Marine Institute reached a new two-year agreement with the National Maritime Union (C. I. O.) in New York, providing basic wage increases of $14 a month for all unlicensed personnel. It also

Schirick Decision Favors Candidate On 'Vote' Question

Justice Decries Domicile of Kenneth Downer Is in New York and Not Washington

Justice Harry E. Schirick on Friday afternoon directed the Inspectors of Election of the first district of the town of Woodstock to meet today and place the name of Kenneth Downer upon the voting register for the district after the board had challenged the right of Mr. Downer to vote in that district on the grounds that he had voted last year in the state of Washington and had therefore not been a resident of New York state for the period required by law to permit him to again vote here.

The decision of Justice Schirick not only places Mr. Downer on the roll as a legal voter but also sanctions his right to become a candidate for supervisor on the Democratic ticket in the town of Woodstock. While the court had not been asked to decide the legality of his name on the ballot, had the decision been against Mr. Downer on the grounds that he was not a

Crane and Gerard Begin Their Hunt For Reported La Guardia 'Slush Fund'

New York, Oct. 25 (AP)—A retired Republican judge and former Democratic ambassador begin today one of the strangest hunts in political history—a search for a reported million-dollar campaign "slush fund."

District Attorney William O'Dwyer of Brooklyn, Democratic candidate for mayor, says the $1,000,000 is being spent to defeat him at the polls November 4 and win a third term for Fiorello La Guardia, the Republican-Labor-Fusionist.

La Guardia says he doesn't know of any supporters anxious enough to keep him in office to spend a million dollars, and has called for an investigation of his own campaign expenditures.

The two who accepted his invitation to make the investigation are Frederick E. Crane, former chief judge of the state court of appeals, and James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany and honorary chairman of O'Dwyer's finance committee.

President Roosevelt's endorsement of La Guardia, who also is chairman of civilian defense, drew an expression of "regret" from Democratic National Chairman Edward J. Flynn.

Commenting on the President's statement at a press conference that La Guardia had given New York the most honest and efficient government within his memory, Flynn said:

"I regret that he has expressed his opinion with respect to the municipal election in New York city, where he does not reside or vote."

Starnes' Parachute Jump of Great Value to All Aviation

Chicago, Oct. 25 (AP)—A world record jump from an airplane—a fall of five and a half miles before opening a parachute—was acclaimed by scientists and the jumper today as "inestimable value to aviation, especially military flying."

The jump from 31,400 feet above sea level was made yesterday by Arthur Starnes, 36-year-old business man and former barnstorming pilot.

His only ill effect was a bite on his lower lip, inflicted, he believed, at the jolt of his chute opening 1,500 feet from the ground, jerking him out of a 170-mile-an-hour fall.

Change Would Allow Vessels to Sail to All Ports; Critics Forecast Debate

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—The Senate foreign relations committee voted 13 to 10 today to broaden the armed ship bill so as to permit American merchant vessels to sail anywhere on the high seas.

Opponents of administration foreign policy were prompt to declare that the expanded bill would stir up more prolonged Senate debate than the House-approved legislation confined to the arming of merchant ships.

Senate leaders arranged to start consideration of the revised measure Monday.

Chairman Connally (D.-Tex.) of the foreign relations group and Democratic Leader Barkley were reported yesterday to have agreed that administration forces should support a freedom-of-the-seas amendment. But one reliable informant said that the decision might possibly be reversed after the two had talked with other White House lieutenants in Capitol Hill.

Brooklyn Has Serious Fire

New York, Oct. 25 (AP)—A three-alarm fire raged through two docks of the huge Robins dry docks in Brooklyn today and threatened two ships—an American-owned tanker and a British freighter—which were undergoing repairs.

The Robins Company holds millions of dollars in defense contracts. The ships, neither of which was reported seriously damaged, were identified as the British merchantman Empire Coral and the 9,310-ton tanker, F. W. Abrams, operated out of Wilmington, Del., and owned by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

About Ring Necks

There seems to be some misunderstanding among hunters as to the manner in which wild English ring neck pheasants may be legally taken during the open season.

Inspector DeWitt of the local Conservation Department office today stated that wild pheasants could be taken only with a shot-gun or long bow and arrow. It is illegal to shoot pheasants with a rifle.

Incidentally there is no open season on pheasants tomorrow, Sunday.

Postpones Execution

Stuelpnagel already has postponed the execution of the second 100 hostages who are supposed to be shot unless the real slayers of the German officers at Nantes and Bordeaux are caught. Vichy has echoed that this meager reprieve was Hitler's own doing, on the day which was the first anniversary of that dismal collaboration meeting between Hitler and Petain at Montoire.

Today Petain's cabinet votes measures by which Frenchmen

Petain Is Thinking Of Giving Himself Over to Germans

French Chief Thus Would End Killings of His Countrymen to Pay for Two Slayings

By FRED VANDERSCHMIDT (Freeman Special News Service)

Philippe Petain, who has been called the hero of Verdun, has added personal melodrama to France's spate of tragedy.

The 85-year-old Marechal de France, present chief of the technically unoccupied part of the French state, gives circulation to a rumor that he is thinking about offering himself up to the Germans as a hostage so that they will spare the lives of the 100 or more Frenchmen who may die next week for the killings of two German officers.

Already, on two days of this week, the Germans have lined up against the wall and shot 100 French hostages in revenge for the deaths of the two Nazis, although none of the Frenchmen now in their graves had anything to do with the acts for which they were executed.

Perhaps it is too easy to be cynical about Petain; maybe the elderly gentleman of Vichy believes sincerely that he is doing his stricken nation a real service by playing this game in another effort to convince the French that collaboration with Germany is their national salvation. There are those who say he has felt that way a long time, even in the first great war.

However, the inspired spectacle of Petain as a voluntary hostage comes at a moment when the Germans seem to be realizing what a ghastly shock the world has received from the blood bath turned on by General Otto Von Stuepnagel, Hitler's commander in chief in France.

Light Cruiser Will Go Into Water at Kearny Yard of Federal Concern

Kearny, N. J., Oct. 25 (AP)—The launching of the $13,000,000 light cruiser Juneau was set for 1:09 p. m. today at the Federal Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company.

Mrs. Harry Lucas, wife of the mayor of Juneau, Alaska, was chosen as the sponsor.

The 6,000-ton Juneau is the second of a new-type stream-line light cruiser emphasizing speed and fire power to slide into the Hackensack river in less than two months. Under navy operation since seizure by the government after a 19-day shipworkers' strike, Federal launched the Atlanta on September 6.

Both vessels carry 12 five-inch guns and are expected to equal 43 knots an hour.

Nazis Push To 20 Miles Of Moscow

Nazi Military Experts Say Capital's Zero Hour Is Approaching Due to Attacks

Belgorod Falls

Rail Town Is Reported Taken by German Sweep

(By The Associated Press)

Masses of tank-led German troops have launched a new offensive along the whole Moscow front, Soviet dispatches said today, while on the south, Adolf Hitler's high command announced the capture of Kharkov—Russia's "Pittsburgh"—in the heart of the Donets river industrial basin.

Roundabout reports reaching London, unconfirmed elsewhere, said Nazi spearheads had thrust within 20 miles of Moscow, and German military reports declared that the capital's zero hour was near.

In all likelihood the spearheads were only swift-striking tanks which may have knifed through Soviet defense lines in isolated sectors and reported back by portable wireless that they were within 20 miles of Moscow. There was no indication that any major breakthrough had developed that close. Official Soviet reports said the nearest fighting was more than 50 miles away.

A dispatch to the Soviet newspaper Pravda said Gen. Fedor Von Bock's central front armies opened the huge-scale assault yesterday after intense artillery preparation.

The dispatch said Nazi casualties in the first three weeks of the drive on Moscow totalled 300,000.

German capture of Kharkov, a severe blow to Russia's war effort, gave the Nazis control of almost the entire Ukraine except for a tiny corner bounded by the Donets river from Kharkov to Rostov-on-Don.

Belgorod Falls

The rail town of Belgorod, 47 miles north of Kharkov, also fell in the German sweep that now has driven clear through the Ukraine into Russia proper, the high command said.

This might indicate that the German southern armies were turning north to bolster the right flank of the drive against Moscow, since Belgorod lies on the main Kharkov-to-Moscow railroad, about 350 miles south of the capital.

Dispatches from Kuibyshev, auxiliary capital of Russia, said vast numbers of German troops were pouring into small villages around Mozhaisk, 57 miles west of Moscow, and that nearby towns had changed hands several times in the savage ebb and flow of battle.

Soviet front-line dispatches said the entire battleground was blanketed with snow.

Russian correspondents declared the Germans' big push was directed at the Mozhaisk salient but that heavy fighting also continued near Kalinin, 95 miles northwest of Moscow, where 4,000 Nazis were reported killed in yesterday's action alone.

The Moscow radio said the Ger-

Nursing Report Is Given to Meeting

Mrs. Edward Davenport Tells of Progress

The report of the Ulster County Nursing Committee made at the annual meeting, Wednesday, October 22, and read by Mrs. Edward Davenport is as follows:

"The progress of the Ulster County Public Health Association this past year has been emphasized by a few major events.

"The first of these was a dinner held on November 13, at the Y. M. C. A. in conjunction with the Ulster County Tuberculosis Health Association and the Ulster County Medical Society. Over 100 people heard Dr. William Bush, Dr. Frederick Holcomb and Mrs. Theodor Oxholm express the viewpoint of their organizations on the benefit both physical and material that local communities derive from the Public Health Nurse.

"There are a few present who will remember Wednesday evening, December 4, when it snowed hard and the roads were extremely slippery, but in spite of this handicap, five Nursing Committees were represented when Mrs. Oxholm, Miss Mary C. Dickerman of Stone Ridge, Mrs. William T. Hooke of the town of Ulster and Mrs. William Cruickshank of the town of Shandaken made their plea to the Board of Supervisors for five more Public Health Nurses. That this appeal was very graciously received, was proved when they soon voted an appropriation of $6,000. We thank the Board of Supervisors. Later a committee of eight was appointed by the chairman, John F. Wadlin, to administer the Public Health Nursing Service. Two members of this board, Mrs. Lucy L. Arnold of Modena and Mrs. George Ross of Port Ewen also serve as the second and third vice presidents of our committee.

"The town of Saugerties started the new year right by forming a nursing committee in January. Mrs. Terry Staples was chosen chairman. This is our only new committee this year, but we understand that the town of Woodstock is well under way.

"At our quarterly meeting on February 18 we held election of officers. Miss Sheldon spoke on the dental trailer and Dr. Ingraham as county chairman of Nutrition for Defense gave an informative talk on the use of foods for nutrition and economy.

"The county committee for Nutrition for Defense served a nutritious dinner to 199 people. Mrs. William T. Hooke was responsible for this dinner which was excellent and astonishing as it cost only 10¢ cents per person. Dr. Ingraham introduced the speakers, Col. Nye spoke on feeding the army. Several county organizations were represented and each stressed the need for more knowledge of nutrition, and told what they are going to do about it. Our county committee offered to have three radio broadcasts and were immediately taken up on it. Mrs. Edgar Clark of the town of Marlborough gave the first of these programs. She discussed "school lunches." Mrs. Black of the Farm Security Board and Mrs. Vanderberg of Stone Ridge had the second program. "Budgeting for Food" and the third was "Using Ulster County Foods." Miss Parsons of the Home Bureau, Albert Kurdt of the Farm Bureau, Mrs. Hookey and Mrs. Oxholm taking part. All three of these were given on the Farm and Home Hour.

"At the time of our quarterly meeting in April there was a great deal of discussion on U. S. preparedness and we considered about our own local problems and how well we were fitted to meet an emergency. The result of this was a questionnaire which received a very good response in the districts where they were distributed.

"This summer we have been working on a Nursing Committee handbook which we hope will be of assistance to all of the committees."

FLASHES OF LIFE

Sketches in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Blessing in Disguise
Philadelphia—For once in her life, seven-month-old Geraldine Moffa won gratitude for awakening her parents at 3 a. m.

The infant's howls brought her parents tumbling groggily from bed. Both complained of being ill. Investigation showed that coal gas was seeping through the house from a defective flue.

Slow Poke
Moberly, Mo.—Not all carrier pigeons are in a hurry.

Fred Cook shot 14 of a big flock of pigeons which had been raiding his feed lot. One was a carrier which wore a band indicating he had been sent on an errand in August, 1937.

Unfair to Voters
Sandy, Utah—Folks seem to be pretty well satisfied with the government—at least as far as the city officials are concerned.

The mayor, four councilmen, a treasurer and recorder are due to be re-elected by default next month. No one—not even the incumbents themselves—filed for the jobs.

Aged Grinner's Debut
Minneapolis—William Starkey, 76, never played football in his life. Nevertheless he was injured in a game.

Starkey told police he was walking through a park when he got in the way of an end run by a 200-pound member of a sandlot team and was blocked out of the play by the interference of an X-ray showed a shoulder and collarbone injury.

Malaya Shipped 5,000 tons of rubber to Russia in a recent month.

G.O.P. to Carry Ballot Case to Appeals Judges

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 25 (AP)—Republicans carried to the courts today their fight to obtain two ballot positions for Frank C. Moore, party candidate for state comptroller.

Shortly after Secretary of State Michael F. Walsh rejected yesterday a state-wide petition to make Moore also the nominee of the City Fusion party, his counsel asked Supreme Court Justice Francis Bergan to order Walsh to show cause why the City Fusion nomination of Moore should not be certified to local election boards.

Regardless of Justice Bergan's decision, the case will go to the appellate division Monday morning with the Court of Appeals, highest state tribunal, scheduled to rule on it later in the day.

In appealing from Walsh's decision, former Assemblyman Herbert Brownell, Jr., New York city, counsel for Moore, accused the secretary of state of acting "with-out just or lawful cause." Solicitor General Henry Epstein opposed the request as an attempt by Republicans to "hitch hike on a wave of municipal discontent."

Asserting Republicans hoped to win votes in New York city by placing Moore's name under the emblem of the city Fusion party, Epstein said the election law "never intended to provide a possible means for perpetration of fraud or to provide means for a candidate nominated by a regular party to hitch hike on a wave of municipal discontent."

Brownell contested principally Walsh's assertion the election law does not permit filing an independent petition for the state wide election.

"If the election law fails to provide for nominations by independent bodies," he asserted, "it is to that extent discriminatory, unconstitutional and in contravention of Article 1, Section 1, of the Constitution."

Walsh, a Democrat, barred the petition because absentee ballots have been mailed to voters, time is lacking to check validity of the claimed 28,463 signatures and the election law "does not contemplate the filing of an independent nominating petition for the state wide office of comptroller at this late date."

The Republican move is designed to offset the double ballot listing of Joseph V. O'Leary, Democratic-American Labor party candidate for the office.

KEEP EM FLYING!
UNION SAN MELO PHOTO OF A U.S. ARMY FLYING CASET

New York, Oct. 25 (AP)—Week-end timidity returned to the stock market today and leading issues generally retreated to moderately lower levels.

Lack of any pronounced buying urge, which stemmed the recovery tide in the latter part of yesterday's session, was in evidence at the start. While scattered favorites managed to pin on modest advances, declines at the close of fractions to a point or more predominated.

Selling never picked up real momentum and transfers on the reaction were held to around 300,000 shares.

Brokers inclined to blame a somewhat pessimistic turn to the war news; with Russia admitting Nazi forces had launched a new attack along the whole Moscow front and Germany claiming the capture of the important city of Kharkov.

Bonds, on the whole, trailed along with stocks.

Shares in arrears at one time or another included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Sears Roebuck, Sperry, Anaconda, Kennecott, Union Carbide, Johns-Manville, Eastman Kodak, J. C. Penney, U. S. Gypsum, U. S. Rubber, Consolidated Edison, Standard Oil (N. J.), Western Union and Southern Pacific.

Certain-ty preferred, a 10-share trading unit, got up better than 2 points. Occasional resistance was shown by Santa Fe, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, American Airlines, Westinghouse, Texas Corp., and Goodyear.

There was little specific news, even from Berlin, to support the vague Nazi claim that Moscow's zero hour was approaching.

German military dispatches reported only that Gen. Fedor von Bock's central front armies had "battled further forward" in the 24-day-old drive on the U.S.S.R. capital, and that new German assaults were "beaten off with heavy losses for the enemy."

Other reports indicated that mud, snow and rain had bogged down fluid action in the gigantic conflicts around both Moscow and Leningrad. Advances reaching London said the Germans were rushing reinforcements to the central front, massing for a final all-out assault as soon as a freeze hardens the muck in which men, tanks and trucks and guns were wallowing.

On the Ukraine front, the Russians admitted a Nazi spearhead had reached the vicinity of Maikievka, 10 miles east of German-captured Stalino, and that the Nazis were attacking strongly around Taganrog, 30 miles west of Rostov-on-Don.

Italy Has Unrest
Behind the battle lines, reports of mounting unrest in Italy were at least partially borne out as Premier Mussolini transferred or replaced 60 Fascist Guild officers in the most sweeping shake-up in years.

Nineteen of Italy's 22 guilds which control the country's economic production were affected by the changes.

No official reason was given for the shake-up but observers were quick to interpret it as a move to counter public complaints against drab economic conditions in Italy.

As a curious sidelight on the Washington-Tokyo tension, an Italian pundit asserted that if the United States fought Japan, the war would not be restricted to the Orient but "would reach Hawaii, California, Panama and Alaska."

The Fascist magazine Oggi said Japanese naval and air forces would carry out the attacks after sudden actions against Hongkong, the Philippines and Singapore.

Japan, it said, would have "immediate Italian and German aid."

'Swiss Navy' Anchors Off Port Ewen

Freeman Photo

Many a joke has been made about the Swiss Navy, but above is conclusive proof the Swiss have a merchant marine. The tanker in full war paint and with the Swiss flag and a large SWITZERLAND painted on its side, made a brief appearance in the far channel of the Hudson river yesterday between 11 o'clock in the morning and 2 o'clock in the afternoon when it returned downstream. Although the reason for anchoring in the river is not known, it is assumed that the boilers were being flushed or some minor check was being made.

Nazis Begin New Drive With Tanks

mans attempted to cross the river Oka in the region of Kaluga, 90 miles southwest of Moscow, but were stopped by a swift Russian counter-attack.

In the Ukraine, the Russians reported increasing Nazi pressure toward the Donets river basin had been blocked by Red armies under the new command of Marshal Semeon Timoshenko, with both sides suffering enormous losses.

One of the key cities of Soviet war supplies, Kharkov is the site of big smelting, engine and tank factories and a main rail outlet for the basin's coal and metal production.

The city fell yesterday, a bulletin from Hitler's field headquarters said, while to the south, German and allied troops were reported driving closer to Rostov-on-Don, vital gateway to the Caucasian oil fields.

Roughly about the size of St. Louis, Kharkov lies 400 miles south of Moscow and 260 miles east of Kiev, the German-held capital of the Ukraine.

Youth Presbytery Officers Elected

Ralph Taylor, Poughkeepsie, Is Named President

Ralph Taylor of Poughkeepsie, was elected president of the Youth Presbytery of the North River Presbytery at the annual meeting held in Pleasant Valley, Dutchess county, on Friday evening. He succeeds Joseph Briody of Newburgh, the retiring president.

Other officers elected were: Craig Lonsdale of Amenia, vice president; Miss Carol Wygant of Marlborough, secretary, and Miss Mary Satterly of Bethlehem, treasurer.

Preceding the business meeting of the Youth Presbytery the annual banquet was held in the church parlors, when an excellent menu was served by the young people of the entertaining church.

The business meeting was presided over by President Joseph Briody, and one of the features of the meeting was the showing of movies taken by Mr. Briody at the youth conferences held earlier in the year at Salisbury Mills and at Camp Sloane, at Lakeville, Conn.

The speaker of the evening was Mrs. Charles Lewis, who had spent 20 years as a missionary in China. She proved a most interesting and witty talker and her address was listened to with close attention.

The annual meeting was attended by more than 125 young people from the various churches in the North River Presbytery and was one of the largest attended annual meetings held in some years.

The Rev. Claude McIntosh, pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Marlborough, who is serving his last year as youth counselor of the Youth Presbytery, also spoke briefly.

The Rondout Presbyterian Church was represented at the conference by Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Scott, H. L. Van Deusen, Robert Van Deusen, Anna Van Deusen, Jesse Whispell, Marion Leonard and Gertrude Purdy.

The First Presbyterian Church on Elmendorf street was represented by William J. McVey, Jr., and Charlotte Cooper.

Baby Is Sought
Williamsport, Pa., Oct. 25 (AP)—Bundled against the chilly mountain weather, hundreds of searchers beat through thick underbrush and crawled into storm sewers to look for a 19-month-old Joseph Prato. At the same time, Pennsylvania motor police broadcast a precautionary warning for all patrols to investigate carefully any cars in which there was a child answering Joseph's general description. The blonde-haired boy, wearing only a thin yellow sweater over the light garment, apparently toddled away at noon yesterday from his home at the foot of Bald Eagle Mountain on the city's outskirts.

foreign policy of the administration.

He also was accused of falsely denying that he knew George Sylvester Viereck, a registered German agent. Viereck was indicted a fortnight ago on charges that he withheld information in registering with the state department.

Indictment, 27 Pages
A 27-page indictment against Hill dwelt at length on the subject of his connections with Viereck, German-born American citizen who is author of such works as "Confessions of a Barbarian," and "Spreading Germs of Hate."

The indictment said the grand jury investigation concerned three major points: 1—The manner in which Hill, Prescott Denny, secretary of various anti-interventionist committees, and others obtained franked envelopes and reprints of congressional speeches; 2—Whether Viereck, Denny and Hill had written the speeches. The mail bags were alleged to have been moved from Denny's headquarters to the House office building September 19. The grand jury testimony at variance with Hill's assertion that he did not direct the moving of the mail bags.

In addition to this the federal prosecutor said Hill had received "at least $12,000 in the past five months from sources which he has not disclosed."

John J. O'Connor, former representative who was chairman of the House rules committee, and a brother of Basil O'Connor, former law partner of President Roosevelt, appeared in court for Hill, although he insisted he really was representing the New York congressman—saying "I'm here to plead Congressman Fish not guilty."

Maloney took "vigorous exception" to that statement, saying "There is no desire in the department of justice to involve Congressman Fish or any other congressman."

District Judge T. Alan Goldsborough set bail at $5,000, but released Hill overnight in the custody of O'Connor, with whom the judge served in the House for many years.

TIME FOR THE BEST

A music critic, writing of a "flawless program" he had just heard, presented by a noted American soprano and sung with great artistic skill, commented as follows on current audiences:

"The individual song recital is becoming so rare that it is already an almost obsolete form of entertainment. It takes an artist of very exceptional powers these days to hold the interest of a large audience throughout a strictly classic vocal program."

Why is this? Is it the effect of radio with its 15-minute breaks in programs and its insistence upon variety? Are Americans becoming too restless to listen to such a program, however varied are its individual numbers?

Impatience appears in other places in contemporary America. The high school English pupil who thinks Stevenson's "Treasure Island" is too slow to be interesting is an example. So is the adult who won't read some classic work because it is "too long," although he may have time for several volumes of current fiction a week.

Has the tempo of the machine age spoiled us for enjoyments which require a sense of leisure and mental composure for their full appreciation?

HAIRPIN FAMINE

Now apparently it's hairpins that are going to win the war. But not in the hands of the women. As far as military authorities have indicated, there are not going to be any hairpin brigades. But if the beauty shops are to be credited—and they should know what's going on, if anybody does—hairpins are already so precious that the beauty parlor people are plucking them out of their customers' hair with magnets. Bobby pins, too. They even sweep the floor with magnets.

There are no priorities whatever in the beauty shops; everything metallic must go into the melting pot for munitions. We may yet see women held up on the street by policemen armed with magnets.

And what will replace these lost aids to beauty? We shudder to say it, but a confidential report from the nearest beauty parlor says they guess they've got to depend on toothpicks. Oh times! Oh customs!

UNSHOCKING PEOPLE

Talk about curing rabies with the hair of the dog that bit him, and the cure for the ills of democracy being more democracy, and so on! In London now they're curing shell shock with "blitz records."

The doctors took men from the badly bombed areas, who apparently would not recover in a quiet atmosphere, and administered "sound inoculations." They started gently with a small siren and tin pans and sticks. Then when the patients had got used to these, they were subjected to records of a real air raid, repeated several times in each treatment.

At first the patients naturally showed signs of distress and hysteria, but eventually they could listen to a complete air raid performance without being affected. Many of them recovered in less than a week.

It makes a person wonder whether the procedure couldn't be reversed. Maybe people could be conditioned against nervous trouble from air raids or other horrible noises by listening beforehand to such records.

MAN-CONTROLLED RAIN

The recent record-setting rains in Florida and Kansas were not exactly welcomed by the inhabitants. In Kansas they engulfed crops, livestock and homes and caused tragic damage to the farmers affected. A foot of rain in a single storm is as undesirable as it is uncommon in the United States.

Nevertheless, after protracted drought in many regions, it was good to know that rain could still fall. Man's conquest of nature hasn't made much headway with weather, although a lot of us think we know just how we'd arrange it if we could.

The best way to have rain, we say, would be in steady amounts every night between midnight and 6 o'clock in the morning. Then, through the day, we'd have fair weather, sometimes nice and hot, sometimes with cool breezes. An occasional gray day would be permitted for the benefit of persons who considered it a wholesome contrast to abundant sunshine.

People who work at night, however, might not like this plan. Astronomers would complain that it blotted out regularly one period of sky observation. Manufacturers of rubbers, umbrellas, rain coats and garden hose might not like it, either, for it would lower the demand for their products.

Perhaps there are other flaws in the plan which would quickly appear if it were ever tried out. Oh, well, the weather might as well be handed back to nature.

Now that Hitler's troops seem stalled in Russia, the Russians may start picking them off and wearing them down around the edges, as they did with Napoleon's men, till there isn't much left of them.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

CHRONIC SINUS INFLAMMATION

There are a great many individuals who state that they have a heavy feeling, sometimes actual pain, over the region of the sinuses—forehead, back of eyes and in cheek—with the nose passage blocked much of the time. This condition is chronic sinusitis and, in some cases, even surgery fails to give relief.

That the new drug, sulfanilamide, and its close relations is effective in acute or fresh inflammations has been amply proven; its effect in old or chronic inflammations has not been so successful.

That sufferers with chronic sinusitis can be helped by a sulfanilamide preparation is reported by Dr. Frederick Myles Turnbull, Los Angeles, in the Journal of the American Medical Association. Of forty-seven patients with chronic sinusitis, all but seven reported definite improvement and relief of symptoms by the use of a 5 per cent (normal) solution of the sodium salt of the sulfathiazole used as a spray.

Of the forty patients reporting improvement, 20 showed an increase in drainage (mucous and pus) from the sinuses with definite relief of symptoms and opening of the nose passages. Twenty reported no increase in the discharge but nevertheless had relief from symptoms. None of the entire forty-seven complained of sneezing after using the spray.

Many of the patients had heaviness, fullness and pressure over the cheek and forehead sinuses, and patients obtained quick and almost complete relief from these symptoms and remained free of symptoms over a period of one week to five months.

The great advantage of this form of treatment is that after the first treatment in the physician's office, the patient is allowed to spray his nose twice daily with this 5 per cent solution of sodium sulfathiazole. "These patients have consistently reported that the nose has been more free, that there is better breathing space and that there is a considerable amount of drainage from nose and down the throat within a period of less than half an hour after using spray."

This is gratifying news to sufferers with chronic sinusitis—stuffed nose, fullness and pressure. All drugs of the sulfanilamide class require a physician's prescription.

The common cold keeps more persons home from work than any other single ailment. Send today for Dr. Barton's helpful booklet entitled "The Common Cold" (No. 104). Send your request to The Bell Library, Post Office Box 75, Station O, New York, N. Y., enclosing ten cents to cover cost of handling and mailing and mention the Kingston Daily Freeman.

Republican Candidates

A Series of Word Pictures of the Republican Candidates

STANLEY M. WINNE

Stanley M. Winne, Republican candidate to succeed himself as supervisor of the Twelfth Ward, has made an excellent record while representing that ward in the county's legislative body, and undoubtedly will be returned to office this November by an even larger vote than that given him two years ago.

Supervisor Winne has been a resident of the Twelfth Ward for a number of years. Born in West Shokan in the town of Olive, Supervisor Winne has always been interested in politics and the activities of the Republican party, even before he was of voting age.

After the death of his father he carried on a general store business in Ashokan and has been interested in the merchandising business all his life. He attended the West Shokan public school and later Genesee Wesleyan Seminary at Lima, N. Y. During his school days he was deeply interested in athletics, and after graduation continued to be active in various sports, including basketball and baseball.

Supervisor Winne has always been interested in the Y. M. C. A. and has served as a director of the local "Y." He is a member of the Fair Street Reformed Church; Kingston Lodge No. 10, F. & A. M., and of the Wiltwyck Golf Club.

EDWIN W. ASHBY

Supervisor Edwin W. Ashby, popular World War veteran, is the Republican candidate for supervisor of the Fifth Ward, which office he has filled with great ability.

Supervisor Ashby was born in Ponckhockie and has resided there all his life. He received his early education in School No. 4, in the Fifth Ward, and later attended old Kingston Academy. When the old academy was demolished he entered and completed his education in the new Kingston High School.

For years Supervisor Ashby has been actively interested in local fireman matters, and has been an active member of Cordts Hose Company, serving at one time as foreman of the company.

At the outbreak of the World War he left Kingston with old Company M. and was later assigned to Headquarters Company, 107th Infantry, 27th Division, and participated in many of the major engagements in the World War.

At the close of the war he returned to Kingston after receiving his honorable discharge from the army. Supervisor Ashby has also served his ward as its representative in the Common Council.

Davis and His Mediation Board Have Acted Honorably in Decision on Closed Shop
(By DAVID LAWRENCE)

Washington, Oct. 25.—Chairman William H. Davis and the National Defense Mediation Board have chosen the manly and honorable course in handing down a decision which says that the board will not attempt to impose the closed shop or union shop on American industry because to do this is to render null and void the provisions of the Wagner labor relations law.

If President Roosevelt had a part in this conclusion, he too merits the praise of his countrymen for having taken the tangled labor situation that resulted from the ill-fated McNary, N. J., ruling out of the realm of enforced arbitration and for placing it now in the category of voluntary action.

The Wagner law says a closed shop is neither prohibited nor sanctioned by the terms of the act but that when closed shops are the result of "voluntary" agreements between employers and employee organizations, they are not violations of the statute.

Now the Defense Mediation Board states that it is willing to act as a board of arbitration but that both sides must agree voluntarily to submit the issue and to agree in advance to accept the recommendations of the arbitral body.

This is the correct procedure. What is gratifying is that the mediation board takes its stand squarely on the terms of the Wagner law and significantly quotes from the congressional debates preceding passage of the act in order to show that closed shops cannot be regarded as legal if forced on employers. Indeed, in some states even strikes with the closed shop as the objective have been regarded as illegal. Certainly a governmental agency can hardly be in the position of violating the Wagner law by changing the word "voluntary" to read "involuntary."

This correspondent has maintained from the outset that not only was the defense mediation board wrong in allowing the closed shop issue to come before it as a subject for mediation, but that the maintenance of membership form of agreement is a kind of discrimination which violates the Wagner law. The action of the defense mediation board in its latest ruling would seem to indicate that disputes over the closed shop issue will not come before the National Defense Mediation Board for so-called "recommendation" again during the present national emergency unless both sides to such disputes agree in advance to accept arbitration by the board itself.

The latest ruling clearly reveals that the mediation board does not regard itself as a final arbitration board and that it will act as such only if the parties wish it so. Where does that leave the coal situation and a possible strike therein? The mine workers

Washington — Answering the mail orders:

Mrs. A. N., Bridgeport, Conn.—The designer of the "Flying Fortress" was C. L. Egtvedt, one of the United States' greatest plane designers. He finished the first blueprints in 1934. It's an interesting sidelight that the British purchasing agencies first turned down the "Flying Fortress"—called the gigantic ship a "flying target"—and intimated that they felt they were being dealt a little American high-pressure salesmanship. The ship was developed for the Army, although it was an admirer who first planted the idea with Egtvedt.

C. F. D., Minden, Neb.—It is impossible to say to what extent the southern Pacific waters in the Far East are planted with mines. It certainly is a safe guess that such ports as Singapore and those of the Dutch East Indies and Australia are mined. Australia recently announced that the Great Barrier reef, coral graveyard of ships off the northeast coast, had been mined. However, in any of the British or Allied areas, there is no great danger to American ships. The skippers of these would be informed of the open channels or pilots provided to take them through.

N. H., Columbia, Mo.—The Panama Canal is NOT open to all shipping now and even those ships that are given passage have to turn over complete controls to officers of the United States armed forces. Minute inspection of all ships and cargo are made while the boats still are far from the entrances to the canal.

R. M. B., Brownsville, Texas.—The defense glider training program still is being held up in Congressional committee. Without arguing the merits of this proposal to train glider pilots all over the country, it might be pointed out that this measure is suffering the fate of a number of others in the national defense set-up—delay while various government agencies scrap over which should handle it. The Civil Aeronautics Authority, the WPA and the National Youth Administration all have been suggested for handling the program. This, of course, is a civilian program and not to be confused with the Army and Navy glider training work. Later, I believe, has just inaugurated a new experimental program to test "plumber" glider boats, carrying as many as 12 passengers. These would be manned by naval aviators.

T. P., Atlanta, Ga.—There is nothing the federal government can do about "charity rackets"—even when they involve national defense or aid to countries at war—unless the United States mails are used in connection with solicitation of funds. In the latter case, the matter should be referred to the U. S. postoffice inspectors. If the mails are not used, any such business is discussed with the local Better Business Bureau, Chamber of Commerce, Red Cross, social agencies, or police.

M. L. D., Monrovia, Calif.—The Civilian Pilot Training Program (and other stimuli to private flying) has more than doubled the number of pilots, other than those in the armed forces, in the last year. There are 91,442 registered pilots in the United States, of which 75,000 are private. There are 23,496 private or commercial planes—about 50 per cent more than last year. The fatality rate in the CPTP, according to the Civil Aeronautics Authority, has been reduced to one person per 16,000,000 flying miles.

Mrs. P. M., Canton, O.—The first meeting of the Red Cross in this country was held in Washington, Saturday, May 21, 1881. It then was called the Red Cross of Geneva and according to Clara Barton, who was present, already had been recognized in 27 other countries.

HOME BUREAU

Specialist to Talk

The Ulster County Home Bureau is arranging to have Morris Storer, discussion specialist, from the federal office of the Extension Service meet with individuals and groups on Wednesday evening, October 29 at the Home Bureau office. Mr. Storer has had experience in establishing forums in nearly every section of the United States.

Two discussion groups and one public forum are now being formed in this county. They are being set up to provide a means for individuals to think through public problems together. Each group will meet about four or five times during the winter and the questions to be discussed will depend upon the interests of the group.

The Ulster County Home Bureau is assisting in the establishment of these discussion groups.

Mr. Storer will tell how to plan for good discussions and the part the discussion leader plays. He will conduct a discussion himself to give a pattern to follow.

It has been suggested that many of the established organizations might like to take advantage of this training and information Mr. Storer will give.

All are invited to send one or more representatives to this meeting at the Home Bureau office, 280 Wall street, Kingston, beginning at 8 p. m.

It was announced recently in London "on highest authority" that "the Queen does not smoke."

Display to Be Held Of Church Records

The First Dutch Senior Christian Endeavor Society will present a rare privilege to the people of the city November 6, 7 and 8, when the old records of the church will be placed on exhibition. These records are among the most valuable in America, being the oldest original records now extant of baptisms and marriages in the Dutch Church in this country.

Beginning with a marriage record in 1660 in an old folio volume, bound in pigskin, now discolored by age, they extend remarkably full and complete to the present day. The records are in Dutch to the pastorate of the Rev. John Gosman, D. D., in 1808, and in English from that date to the present year.

When the news came on that June day in 1777 that the British soldiers were on their way up from Rondout to burn the village of Kingston, the records were loaded on a wagon and carted to Hurley for safe keeping. At the present time the records are considered so valuable that they are kept in a safe in the Kingston Savings Bank.

This is the first time in many years that the public has been allowed the opportunity to view them. The exhibition of these records is being held in conjunction with a hobby show which will place on display many fine exhibits that have never been seen in the city of Kingston.

R. and the New York state organization maintains this cottage as a part of its approved school program. This is the first state appointment made from the local chapter. Mrs. Harris C. Ingalls is second vice-regent; Mrs. Clarence L. Dumm, recording secretary; Mrs. Rose K. Witter, treasurer; and Mrs. Burdette R. Tuttle, chaplain.

With 10 annually elected officers and four lay members as an advisory committee, with 20 committees appointed each year by the regent, and a board of trustees to look after the affairs of the chapter, Wiltwyck Chapter is a busy, active organization standing for the highest ideals of patriotism and Americanism.

The objects of the society as of the national organization are to perpetuate the memory and the spirit of the men and women who achieved American Independence, to promote the developments of an enlightened public opinion and to foster patriotic citizenship.

Plant Disease Is Topic At Garden Club

The subject of plant pathology was discussed at yesterday's meeting of the Little Gardens Club held at the home of Miss Bessie Brewster, 5 St. James Court. Two papers were presented, one on "Plant Pathology for the Layman," by Mrs. Lucius Doty and the other "Insects as Seed Sowers," by Mrs. Frederick Snyder. Both papers were prepared from material supplied by the Radio Garden Club.

Mrs. Doty told of the invisible plants which grow in the garden some of which are beneficial, others which are enemies. The seeds have been known to travel long distances under adverse conditions with seemingly no ill effect.

Of evil consequences is the plant growth which though invisible to the human eye infects cake, bread and bruised fruit. This is known as mold.

Other microscopic plants live on garden plants as parasites. Some of them are the mealy white coating on lilac leaves in the fall or on the zinnia or chrysanthemum. The various rust diseases may be classified in this manner also. These mildews, wilts, and blight are not new but are spoken of by early Hebrew writers. The Romans recognized knotty formations on the olive trees as a disease and then named two gods as the special rust-god pair.

The fungi grow by piercing the outer protective coating on the leaves of the plant and living on the food of the plants cells. Other varieties attack the root tissues of the plants and still others attack trees.

In the paper presented by Mrs. Doty the methods of distributing seeds was discussed. Insects often carry them as well as the wind. Perhaps the most effective and destructive insect is the European elm bark beetle which sows the seeds of the Dutch elm disease. As described in the article the beetle is a taxi-driver and the fungus is a non-paying traveler going from tree to tree.

Miss Lottie Johnson was co-hostess with Miss Brewster at the meeting yesterday and assisted in serving delicious refreshments. There were 12 members present. The next meeting will be Friday, November 7.

Chapter 11
Suspicion

SUE ELLEN saw the major exchange a glance with Johnny and she wondered if he remembered Riv's devotion to Deedora Waller upon the other occasion when she had met him and if it surprised him to find that she was engaged to him.

He spoke his thought quite frankly "Engaged—what a shame."

"All the really lovely girls are engaged—especially nowadays."

Johnny contributed that remark, with her hand still held in that tight firm clasp and his steady eyes repeating as definitely as though he spoke the words, his former assertion that the engagement to Riv concerned him not at all, and regardless of it she would be long to him someday.

She jerked her hand away and led the way into the front parlor, where Aunt Pleas and Aunt Car met the major with smiles and eagerness, when they found that his relations in Virginia were distant relations of the Fairhopes.

"Everyone down South is related," said Sue Ellen, making conversation.

"Cousins marry cousins down South," said Ginny, her small face eagerly uplifted toward the major.

Sue Ellen had no choice but to join Johnny, for Aunt Car was regarding her anxiously and to spoil Ginny's evening with the major would be rank treachery.

"Chicken," she whispered to Sue Ellen. "I could kiss your Aunt Car for asking me. Toby sent a big basket of fruit to mamma this afternoon. I told her an old admirer sent it and she's perfectly happy. So am I. Isn't the major divine? He told me blue was my color."

She knew Johnny overheard the last, for she smiled as he crossed with her toward the dining room. She didn't need to look at him to remember just how he looked when he smiled. Boyish and younger—suddenly she thought, how could Johnny be twenty-eight? Could his father have been married—

The thought startled her so that she stood quite still and turned, meeting Johnny looking straight at her. "What's wrong?"

"How old are you?"

"Twenty-eight."

"Then how?"

He laughed heartily. "I know. How could my father have had such a desperate love affair with your Aunt Car. Easily. He was a widower with a five-year-old child when he met her. I met your Aunt Car once. Did you know that?"

"How could you?"

"My nurse took me to the boat when my father came home from France. Your aunt was in New York and came to meet him. That was our introduction. I can remember as sweet, and kissing me—which I thoroughly disliked. My mother died when I was three years old," he explained.

They were at the table then and he turned to speak to Aunt Pleas while the major exclaimed about an Audubon print on the wall and mentioned that it would have a great value to a collector.

"Our father was a collector," said Aunt Pleas stily.

At White Sulphur

THERE was an awkward pause and the conversation drifted again to Virginia. Gradually Ginny succeeded in holding the major's interest and Sue Ellen heard Johnny say, right beside her: "Did you deliberately plan to show me how beautiful you could be, Miss Sue Ellen?"

"My dress?"

"Not your dress."

"We would be much better friends if you would accept this fact." She touched the ring on her finger.

"The ring is beautiful. I admire it, but I dislike what it stands for."

"It's a definite proof of something which will be."

"I deny that."

She tipped back her head and her bright eyes met his clear glance. "How can you be so stupid?" she demanded. "Are all northerners like that—stubborn and unwilling to accept facts?"

"I'll never accept that fact."

One lean finger touched the ring and Sue Ellen hastily withdrew her hand and hid it in a fold of her dress.

"Then you don't want to be friends?"

He said: "No," quite decidedly, and turned to speak to Aunt Carolina who was watching them curiously.

The major leaned forward and spoke to Sue Ellen. By the way, the young man who was with Miss Waller, or is she Miss Waller?" His keen glance circled the mahogany table. Aunt Pleas continued to serve the salad with a steady hand. Aunt Car looked startled. It was impossible to interpret the expression on Johnny Harris's face. Ginny turned eagerly, her small inquisitive blue eyes wide and eager. "Yes. You know him?"

The major shook his head. "I was struck by a startling resemblance to someone else—a young man I met at White Sulphur Springs last summer."

Sue Ellen smiled and said: "The man whom you must refer to as being with Miss Waller, is Riv Moore, the man I'm engaged to marry."

"Really?" The major sipped his wine reflectively. "Resemblances can be startling." Now his glance shifted to Sue Ellen's face. "I could have sworn the man I met at White Sulphur was this same man."

"Probably he was the same," broke in Ginny.

The major shook his head. "He definitely denied meeting me when I suggested the other evening that I had met him before. In fact, he was quite vehement."

He laughed. "Of course, since he is your fiancé, I can easily understand why he was so insistent that I had made a mistake."

One of the tall white candles on the table spluttered. Aunt Car bent forward and flicked aside a bit of wax which struck the polished table with a dull plop. Ginny laughed—a laugh which was unbelievably harsh and eager.

"Why should a resemblance make Riv angry?" she demanded.

The major pushed his wine glass an inch away and then drew it toward him. "The man I refer to, was a young southerner who was in White Sulphur Springs on his honeymoon."

"Then it wasn't Riv, of course. I thought you were going to tell us something exciting," Ginny pouted. "I adore excitement. Don't you, Sue Ellen?"

But Sue Ellen sat rigid and cold in her chair, her shaking fingers buried in the stiff green folds of her dress. Riv couldn't have been at White Sulphur last summer—or could he?

"Shall we have our coffee in the library?" Aunt Car arose and Aunt Pleas followed her with a stiff rustle of taffeta skirts.

Sue Ellen followed Ginny, aware that a thousand questions revolved on the tip of Ginny's inquisitive tongue. Was it Riv the major had seen at White Sulphur and what was he doing there and was it Deedora Waller, tall and smartly dressed, who was with him on that trip?

Call From Riv

BACK in the library, she drank her coffee scalding hot. She accepted the liqueur the major offered and read an apology in his keen black eyes. He knew—or if he didn't know, he suspected that something was wrong. He was a friend of Johnny Harris. Had he intentionally aided his friend by an attempt to unmask some love affair carried on by Riv without her knowledge?

She must make an opportunity to see the major alone.

That was difficult, for Aunt Car suggested bridge and the major was keen to play. Before she thought, Sue Ellen pleaded a headache as an excuse. Ginny, with the aunts and the major, made up a foursome. She found herself left with Johnny Harris, which was the last thing she wanted.

"Get a coat and come outside," he ordered. "Fresh air will help your head."

She tried to beg off. "I'm helping Ginny with this hand," she explained, but Ginny said rudely: "Go away, you bother me."

She had no choice but to run up and get a coat. When she came back, she found Johnny waiting at the foot of the staircase.

He took her arm and led her out on the veranda. He lighted a cigarette for her and for himself before he spoke.

"I knew about that White Sulphur episode," he said bluntly. "I'm sorry Major Faber mentioned it. I believe that he really thinks it was not Moore but someone else, and I can assure you that nothing more will be said about it."

"Plenty will be said. Ginny will like nothing better than to tell it. She dislikes Riv and thinks I'm a fool to marry him. What she thinks doesn't matter to me—what anyone thinks is of no consequence."

"I rushed on half hysterically. I shall not be so disloyal as to believe just a story unless Riv tells it to me himself."

He stood on the edge of the veranda, half turned away from her. His face was in shadow and she could not read his expression. Finally he said: "I think I've made a nuisance of myself. I apologize. No matter how much a man loves a girl, he should leave the decision up to her and when she shows him as clearly as you have shown me that he hasn't a chance—he has no choice but to accept that decision as final."

"I'm sorry," she said dully. "I'll get over it. At least I can do what my father did and make the best of it. He lost the girl he loved."

There was an awkward silence, broken by the telephone ringing inside. Ginny opened the door before Sue Ellen could reach it. "Call for you from Washington."

Her eyes betrayed her curiosity. Sue Ellen swept past her down the hall.

"Hello." She had a queer feeling. Riv would speak in a minute and she would answer, just as though the major and his story had not shocked her. "Hello."

She heard the operator and heard Riv's voice, then the Tyler Springs long distance: "Go ahead Washington."

Two Get Awards In Bus Accident Negligence Case

Joseph Lofaro of Milton was awarded $800 by a supreme court jury yesterday for loss of time and injuries while his brother Samuel, was awarded $31.41 for damage to his car which was in collision with a Poughkeepsie bus last December on Main street in Poughkeepsie.

Joseph Lofaro sued the Poughkeepsie and Wappingers Falls Railway Co. for damages, claiming that he had been thrown against the car door when his brother's car was struck while standing still waiting for a light to change. He claimed shoulder injury and his brother sought damages to his car. The case was submitted to the jury at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon and the jury retired to bring in the verdict later in the afternoon. Michael Nardone and Judge A. J. Cook appeared for the plaintiffs and N. LeVan Haver for defendants. Lofaro claimed permanent injury to his shoulder.

A jury taken to hear the negligence action brought by Giuseppe DeVita against Herbert D. Jones and another, was discharged shortly after it had been selected when counsel in the case announced a settlement. The plaintiff appeared by Peter H. Harp of New Paltz and A. R. Garnett appeared for the defendant.

Justice Schirick recessed court until Monday at 10 o'clock.

Decree Granted

An interlocutory decree of divorce has been granted by Justice Harry E. Schirick in the matter of Stephanie M. Schiskey of 142 Wilbur avenue, Kingston, against Joseph Schiskey, also of Kingston. The action was tried on October 10, last, in this city, and William A. Kaercher appeared for the plaintiff. The parties were married at Kingston on October 2, 1932.

Roosevelt Assails Nazi Executions

President Says Reprisals Are Acts of Men Who Know They'll Lose

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—President Roosevelt assailed Nazi reprisal executions in Europe today, declaring them to be revolting to the world and the "acts of desperate men who know in their hearts that they can not win."

In a formal statement, the Chief Executive said the Nazis were developing a "new order" by "depths of frightfulness which even they have never approached before."

The statement was released by the White House without explanation of its purpose. It did not mention any specific country, but spoke of the German practice of executing scores of innocent hostages in reprisal for isolated attacks in countries under Nazi domination.

Following the killing of two German officials in France, 50 hostages were shot at Bordeaux, and scores more were scheduled to be executed in the next few days. The President's statement follows:

"The practice of executing scores of innocent hostages in reprisal for isolated attacks on Germans in countries temporarily under the Nazi heel revolts a world already inured to suffering and brutality. Civilized peoples long ago adopted the basic principle that no man should be punished for the deed of another."

"Unable to apprehend the persons involved in these attacks the Nazis characteristically slaughter 50 or hundred innocent persons. Those who would 'collaborate' with Hitler or try to appease him can not ignore this ghastly warning."

"The Nazis might have learned from the last war the impossibility of breaking men's spirits by terrorism. Instead they develop their 'lebensraum' and 'new order' by depths of frightfulness which even they have never approached before."

"These are the acts of desperate men who know in their hearts that they can not win. Frightfulness can never bring peace to Europe. It only sows the seeds of hatred which will one day bring fearful retribution."

the issue is before they are flung into a war on two oceans simultaneously."

In a similar vein, Senator Nye (R., N. D.) said he hoped that "Secretary Knox's war with Japan is wishful thinking on his part."

LaFollette said he thought Pacific tension had been eased by the reports that most American war supplies for Russia would be shipped through the North Atlantic to Archangel, instead of being routed past Japan to Siberia.

Secretary of State Hull said yesterday he had no advance knowledge that the maritime commission was adopting any such policy, and the commission itself said its previous announcement that "all aid-to-Russia cargoes will be moved through the port of Boston" was inaccurate and had been misinterpreted.

The order meant, the commission said, that goods for Russia would be shipped from all available ports, thus leaving the assumption that the Pacific route might be used as well as the Atlantic.

Schirick Decision Favors Candidate On 'Vote' Question

resident of the state then his candidacy would also have been voided.

N. Jansen Fowler appearing for Mr. Downer asked the court to direct that the name of Mr. Downer be placed on the voting register on the grounds that as a Federal employee he had not lost his residence in New York state even though he had resided for several years in the state of Washington while temporarily there as an art director for the WPA.

Judge Raymond Mino appearing for the town opposed the application on the grounds that Downer had voted in Washington's last election which was on November 5 and that by his vote there he had designated that state as his residence and that he had not resided in New York state for a year since last voting in Washington and that even on election day which is November 4 this year, he would not have resided in this state for a year.

Before the question was argued in court Justice Schirick asked counsel to agree if possible upon the point in question and it was stipulated that the only question to be raised was if Downer voted in Washington last election, was it his "legal domicile."

No Chastisement

The inspectors of election were unanimous in their refusal to register him. After the decision Justice Schirick said that the decision was in no way a chastisement of the board and he further said that the board had acted wisely in voting to exclude the registry of Downer and that he was bringing the matter to the court for determination. He said the board's action had been entirely justified and he did not want the board to feel that the decision was in any way a reprimand.

Having decided that the only question to be heard was whether the vote in 1940 in Washington established a residence there for Downer and whether this act precluded him from voting in New York this year, Mr. Fowler asked leave to offer testimony to show that Downer did not change his domicile by his vote.

Mr. Mino said that there was no question that Downer had voted and he saw no need to take testimony. He agreed that under the law a Federal employee by residence alone in another state did not gain or lose a residence but he argued that when Downer exercised his right to vote and did so in Washington, that he, by that act had determined himself that his residence was in the state of Washington.

Testimony Taken

Justice Schirick directed that testimony be taken, remarking that the vote alone did not determine the place of residence for a voter might vote illegally in another state or innocently vote in another state with no intention of establishing a residence there. He might act upon the poor advice of some party or election official and that would not change his real domicile. The voting together with other facts to be learned through testimony, the court said, would establish whether Downer had changed his domicile.

Called as his first witness Mr. Downer said he had been born in Woodstock but about 1920 had left Woodstock. He had been back several times since. In October, 1938, he lived in an apartment at 145 East 40th street, New York with his wife, where they had an apartment, which he furnished. Later that month he had been "temporarily loaned" to the Spokane, Washington, WPA Art Project and had gone there. He intended to stay there for three months but the time was extended and he remained over two years. He said his wife had later come to Washington and they sublet their apartment in New York furnished with the right to take it over on 30 days' notice.

During 1938 to 1941 they retained this apartment and kept furnishings there. Clothing was also kept there in a closet reserved from the tenant.

Voted Absentee

In 1938 he voted an absentee ballot in New York state and in 1939 he said he could not recall whether he had voted or not. In 1940 he intended to return east because of illness of his wife but when he found the operation could be delayed he stayed three months to give time to secure another man to take his place. That fall he inquired whether he would lose his right the following year to cast a vote if he voted in Washington and was told by election officials that as a Federal employee he had a right to vote anywhere he desired. He voted that fall.

In December 1940 he came east to New York and in May of this year came to Woodstock to live where he now owns property. He said he never had any intention of giving up his residence in New York.

Cross examined he said he had been registered in New York city in 1938 when he voted an absentee ballot. He told Mr. Mino that acting on advice of election officials that he would not lose his vote the following year he voted in Washington.

Mr. Downer on cross examination said he owned a car in Washington and had it registered there. Mrs. Downer had bought a car in California and registered it there while she was there for three months. Then she registered it in Washington and later came on to New York and about a couple of weeks ago had the car registered in New York state. Prior to that she had operated under the Washington license.

Mrs. Downer testified to the temporary residence in Washington of the sub-letting of the New York house and said her husband had originally intended to stay in Washington for three months. In 1940 she too voted in Washington. She told of registering the car in the three states and said she also had operator's licenses in three states, having secured her license in New York for the car about two or three weeks ago.

Apartment Sub-let

Dorothy Joseph who is a friend of the Downers told of sub-letting the apartment in New York and of furnishings and clothing left there by the Downers.

Mrs. Downer was called back to the stand by Mr. Mino and said in 1940 a Federal income tax had been filed by her and her husband in New York but they had not filed a New York state income tax in New York that year.

No testimony was offered on behalf of the board of inspectors.

Justice Schirick then directed that the board convene today at 7 a. m. and place the name of Mr. Downer on the rolls. He said he would render a decision from the bench since Saturday was the last day on which the board could convene and place the name on the roll. In his decision Justice Schirick said it was not a question of "residence" but one of "domicile". He held that it was a question of legal residence as distinguished from a temporary abode. He held that Downer apparently had intended to return to New York state and that his residence in Washington had been but temporary and that his domicile had always been in New York.

Stahls Are Given Farewell Party at Governor Clinton

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stahl were the guests of honor last night at a dinner given at the Governor Clinton Hotel by the staff of radio station WKNY and a group of about 50 Kingston friends. Mr. Stahl, the former general manager of the radio station, and Mrs. Stahl are expected to leave Kingston next week.

Also guests honored at the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dillon. Mr. Dillon has been the program manager of the radio station since February. He is leaving this week-end to accept a radio position in Philadelphia.

provides an increase of five cents an hour in the emergency overtime rate. Ordinary seamen will receive $65 a month and able seamen $82.50.

Spread of the welders' jurisdictional strike in Pacific northwest defense industries continued, but Business Agent R. D. Fowler of one Seattle local of the A. F. L. Boilermakers Welders' Union said a membership meeting voted last night to return to work Monday.

Fowler said 75 per cent of the members walked out with other unions Wednesday in the strike called by the Independent Council of Welders and Burners in their break from the A. F. L.

The council attempted unsuccessfully to gain sanction of an international welders' union at the recent A. F. L. convention, and threatened to form an independent welders' organization. Welders belong to a number of A. F. L. unions but have none of their own.

The strike spread yesterday to five more Tacoma plants and a sympathy walkout was called at Florence, Ala. In addition to two plants of the Seattle-Tacoma Shipbuilding Company, the dispute has affected half a dozen smaller Seattle yards and several shops in Tacoma, as well as welding work on Mud Mountain Dam, near Enumclaw, Wash.

Six Arrested

Friday the police department arrested six motorists on charges of traffic violation. All five had their hearings set down for later. Those charged with failing to observe full-stop signs were: Michael Tiano of Route 1, Kingston; Dorothy Barley of Accord; Myron Lent, Sr., of Highland; Edward W. Davis of Hurley avenue, and James H. Jennings of Hewitt Place. Isom Clinton of Crown street was charged with having no operator's license. James Lowery of 126 Broadway was arrested on Abee street last night on a charge of public intoxication.

Petain Is Thinking Of Giving Himself Over to Germans

will punish Frenchmen for attacks on German soldiers, and issues a new series of appeals to the Germans to halt reprisal shootings of innocent hostages.

Thus it looks like the Germans invented the shadowy Petain hostage offer so that they can ease off on the hostage killings, for the time being, without losing face.

Even the executioners must realize now the futility of these mass shootings; there is still no sign of surrender from the hidden avengers of betrayal and defeat; there is no peace in France.

Peace Is Essential

Right now internal peace in France is as essential to Hitler as a major military victory. He cannot be safe with this spreading strife at his back at a moment when his armies are fighting to win the battle of Moscow.

France is not even out of the war. The importance to Hitler of French African bases is illustrated again this morning, by the reported R. A. F. bombing of a French ship off Tunisia; a ship which, the British obviously believe, is supplying the Axis forces in North Africa.

Eventually, Hitler knows he must have some sort of willing or supine collaboration from the people of France, for France is the keystone of the conquered nations which must form the "new order" if Hitler is to give Germany a lasting victory.

Yet the dogged resistance of the French people as a whole, even in the face of the frightful reprisals of the last week, shows how the real France feels about collaboration today.

Masons to Observe 150th Anniversary

Founding of Order in City to Be Commemorated

Plans have been completed for the exercises to be held at the Masonic Temple at Kingston on Tuesday evening, celebrating the 150th anniversary of the founding of Masonry in Kingston and vicinity.

The officers and members of the Masonic lodges at Saugerties, Margaretville, Ellenville and Rondout have been invited to attend. In addition to these lodges an open invitation has been extended to all Masons in Greene and Ulster counties and a large crowd is expected.

Inasmuch as the capacity of the lodge room in the present temple on Albany avenue next to the Governor Clinton Hotel, does not equal that of the room used for a great many years by Kingston Lodge No. 10 in the Ulster County Savings Institution building on Wall street, Kingston, arrangements have been made to have installed a sound system by means of which all persons, who are not able to gain access to the lodge room, will be able to enjoy the program and the address of the evening in any section of the temple in which they may be located.

An entertaining program consisting of musical and patriotic numbers, in addition to the address by Gay H. Brown, senior grand warden of the Grand Lodge of the State of New York will be offered and at the conclusion of the program refreshments will be served to all present.

Mr. Brown, who resides at Utica, and is at present counsel to the Public Service Commission of the State of New York, has earned an enviable reputation as a public speaker. In his university days, where he received the degrees of A.B. and L.L.B. he took active part in debating and was a member of the team sent by his university to debate against the University of Southern California at Los Angeles. Soon after graduation Mr. Brown became associated with a prominent law firm at Utica, and later became a member of the firm. His specialty has been the trial of cases. In 1929 Mr. Brown served as supreme court justice under appointment by the governor. He is past president of the Cornell Law Association, Oneida County Bar Association, Utica Torch Club, Utica Kiwanis Club and the Young Men's Christian Association. His appointment as counsel to the Public Service Commission of New York State became effective in 1936 and he still retains that office.

A souvenir program has been prepared and will be distributed to all present.

During the program a historical sketch will be presented by Philip Kearney, historian of Kingston Lodge No. 10, outlining the development of Masonry in this district and recounting the founding of the lodge in which Kingston Lodge No. 10 or its predecessors took an active part.

Gestapo Escapes Blame
Police in Lanus, a suburb of Buenos Aires, Argentina, have exonerated the Gestapo in connection with the death of Jorge Valis, a boy found hanged in his home. His mother said that agents of the Gestapo "looked threateningly" at the child when refused a donation. The boy had been chosen to carry the Argentine flag and recruit a patriotic poem at a school fete. Shortly before his death the honor was withdrawn and awarded to another boy.

Yellow Jackets Meet Middletown Sunday Afternoon at Stadium

Locals in Shape For Tough Game; Starts at 2:30 P. M.

Good Attendance Expected for Contest Between Two Arch-Rivals: Middies Are Strong

Tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at municipal stadium the Kingston Yellow Jackets will battle the strong Middletown United Clubbers in what promises to be the No. 1 semi-pro grid attraction of the season at the up-town hall park.

The Clubbers, who have the cream of the crop in their lineup, comprised mostly of former high school stars, will start the game as the favorite. However, the local gridders have been displaying improved form of late and may turn the tables.

Assembling Thursday night the Waps held another long drill in preparation for this tussle and now figure themselves set for this contest. Realizing the vast improvement shown by the players local fans are expected to give the club proper backing at the box office tomorrow afternoon. So far this year the fans have been reluctant in attending the games.

Middie Fans Coming
Reports from Middletown reach here that the Clubbers will bring along a number of fans to see their favorites in action. Many of these spectators are ones who followed their team while in high school.

Kingston is expected to start the game with a starting backfield looking something like this: Ed Esposito at quarter, Jimmy Ashdown at left half, Walt Sikorski at right and Vince Stoll at fullback. Three of these, Esposito, Ashdown and Stoll, are former high school gridders.

Ashdown led the pack last week when he personally handed the Schenectady Merrimacs a defeat with his crushing ground work. This week Jimmy should get some help from Esposito, who was one of the sparkling hits G. Warren Kias formerly had under his wing at Kingston High School. Vince Stoll, another protege of Kias, will probably take over for Mac Tiano, who is out with an injury for the remainder of the campaign. Stoll is another hard running back who should be able to take care of himself. Sikorski, from upstate, has handled himself nicely so far. He's a valuable man to have in any secondary.

The backfield of Middletown also is studded with former DUSO League material. Most prominent is Gene Clemmer, the wizard passing artist, who is expected to throw a lot of pigskin Sunday. In this respect, Kingston has been working hard in preparing a stubborn pass defense.

Clemmer is not the only show, however. Albie Maci, another ex-Middletown griddler, will be at quarter. Clemmer's brother, Lou, is at left half and Hasbrouck from Liberty at right half. All of these sturdy footballers represent a high class secondary.

Next Sunday afternoon Kingston will sponsor a Booster Day. Although no official opponent has been announced, the Waps are angling for the Newburgh Recreation or some other first rate club.

Following are the tentative lineups for the game:

Middletown	Kingston
LE—P. Masci	Roberts
LT—Seebor	McKay
LG—Melnick	Hofbauer
C—Smith	Straley
RG—Morris	DeGraft
RT—Berthoff	J. Tiano
RE—Hoyt	Van Dera
QB—A. Masci	Esposito
LHB—L. Clemmer	Ashdown
RHB—Hasbrouck	Sikorski
FB—E. Glemmer	Stoll

Memo To Hunters
BE CAREFUL!
By JAY VESSELS
AP Feature Service

Minneapolis—The contention of safety authorities that the nation's 7,500,000 licensed hunters, as a unit, take more chances than the professional daredevils is picking up further support this fall.

In Minnesota, for example, seven hunters perished the first week of the duck season. And in adjacent South Dakota four persons were killed in a similar period seeking waterfowl and upland game.

Gunfire was not the greatest factor. Three perished in that manner and four drowned. One 28-year-old man stumbled with his gun. The barrel was jammed into the mud as the charge exploded. The weapon blew to pieces. A piece struck him on the temple and killed him.

Another hunter, 30, was killed when, thrown off balance as his boat upset, he dropped his gun. The weapon went off and the charge struck him in the abdomen.

Three 19-year-old boys were shooting from one boat. One crippled a duck, another stood up to shoot the floundering bird which had fallen behind the third youth. The third youth suddenly stood up. His head was blown off.

Two other 19-year-old boys were hunting ducks in a canoe when a bird flew over. Both fired at once, the craft tipped over, and both drowned.

A 21-year-old nimrod stood up in his small duckboat to shoot. Over it went and he, like others, was weighted down with boots, heavy clothing and shells and sank. The other Minnesota victim was a 65-year-old man who had a stroke while hunting alone, fell from his boat and drowned.

National safety authorities hope the early northwest tragedies will be an unforgettable reminder to hunters that they must stress utmost caution with frail boats and deadly guns.

Arkansas Razorbacks Hand Detroit First Defeat by Same Margin

New York, Oct. 25 (AP)—Villanova and Detroit, two of the major unbeaten teams, skidded into the also-ran class last night by dropping contests to Manhattan and Arkansas, respectively, while Temple crashed through with a 41-14 triumph over Bucknell to keep the Owl record clean.

Halfback Dave Scarborough booted a field goal two seconds before the final gun to give Arkansas its 9 to 6 triumph over the Detroit Titans. The 18-year kid was set up when the Razorbacks from the south-west circuit recovered a fumble.

Villanova tumbled by the same score but the New York Jaspers did all their counting in the second period and then relied on the punting of Frank Kiesecker to keep them out of danger. His kicking kept Villanova in check all the way and led directly to the safety which opened the scoring.

George Sutch and Andy Tomasic saw to it that Temple's unblemished record stayed that way, piling up a 41 to 0 count before allowing Bucknell to get its two touchdowns in the final period.

Sutch and Tomasic each got only one touchdown but the latter ripped off 106 yards gained from scrimmage, threw two passes for 14 yards and returned punts 44 yards in addition.

Boston University polished off Western Maryland, 14 to 0, and St. Vincent blanked West Virginia Wesleyan, 19 to 0, in other eastern games.

In the south, William and Mary found little competition from George Washington, winning 48 to 0, and Centre spilled Transylvania, 32 to 6. Rollins, however, had the biggest night with a 52 to 0 triumph over Mercer. Miami got its fourth win in a row by besting Howard, 19 to 0.

Xavier of Cincinnati was too strong for St. Louis of the Missouri Valley circuit, 8 to 0, and Ottawa, Kas., University, handed Shurtleff its first defeat, 6 to 0. St. Benedict's sneaked by Washburn, 7 to 6, and Hope got by Hillsdale College, 6 to 0.

Texas Tech kept on a par with other lone star elevens by crushing New Mexico, 36 to 0, and Henderson blanked the Arkansas Teachers, 20 to 0.

Along the Pacific coast, Coach A. A. Stagg's College of Pacific couldn't get its offense working and was shut out by San Jose State, 7 to 0, while Brigham Young lost to San Francisco, 25 to 13.

Venezuela has banned the transfer of Venezuelan vessels to foreigners.

Argentina now has 44,000,000 sheep, 33,000,000 cattle and 4,000,000 swine.

WABC is by far the best bet for classical music this week. The various offerings run the gamut of composers from Bach to Zipoli. Some of the more promising programs are:

pest String Quartet carries on its Beethoven Cycle with the third and fourth movements from his Trio in C Minor, and Quartet in F Major. . . .
At 3:00 the New York
Philharmonic is heard.
Guest soloist is pianist
Josef Hofmann, whose selections are Beethoven's Fourth Concerto in G Major and Dvorak's
New World Symphony.
... 4:30 to 5:00, the Kostelanetz-Paulding program features a Strauss waltz and Schubert's
"Ave Maria", spiced with a bit of popular music.
... At nine o'clock, the Sunday Evening Hour;
more Strauss, plus selections from Wagner's
"Tannhauser" and "Die
Walkure", Dvorak's "Slavonic Dance", "Floods of Spring" by Rachmaninoff, and "When You and I Were Young Maggie."
"Stars in the Orchestra" at four o'clock Monday features Rimsky-Korsakoff's "May Night" overture.

Tuesday at four o'clock finds "Milestones in American Music" premiering with the Rochester Symphony. Dr. Howard Hanson conducts, with selections by Paine, Chadwick, and Strong.

Wednesday—and again at four o'clock—"Songs of the Centuries" by the Columbia Concert Orchestra with Howard Barlow conducting. Mendelssohn's eternally beautiful "On Wings of Song", highlights this half hour. Included are another Mendelssohn composition, Rachmaninoff's "To the Children", Massenet's Prelude to
"Manon", and Schumann's "Widmung."

Thursday finds the Cincinnati Conservatory

Joan Bennett. She was on last week's program too.

Orchestra through "Vissi d'Arte" from Puccini's
"Tosca", Verdi's "O Patria Mia" from "Aida", and, from "Cavalleria Rusticana", Mascagni's Prelude and "Siciliana." . . . At ten, Barlow and the orchestra return with selections from Tschaikowsky, Borodin, and Mussorgsky.

The most elegant new fashion can be so distorted into un-pretty lines, when you don't wear it over a properly fitting foundation. The new garments are so light in weight,
so comfortable to wear, that you feel better in them than without.
Be expertly fitted, whatever your

Staples Street Blaze Damages Cellar Room

Kingston's fire department responded to a still alarm of fire Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock for a fire in the cellar of the Bence residence at 22 Staples street.

The fire, according to the fire department, started on a small shelf in a wire-partitioned workroom in the cellar and spread to the floor timbers. The prompt arrival of the firemen prevented a more serious fire.

Friday night at 8:30 the department was called for a chimney fire in the house at 133 Fair street, owned by Mrs. Anna Goodsell, and occupied on the first floor by Miss Helen Muldoon. The second floor is vacant.

Shortly before noon today the firemen were called to extinguish a fire in a pine tree on Jarvis avenue.

Most Gasoline Stations Will Close at 7 P. M.

At least 20 gasoline service stations in the city will continue closing at 7 p. m. each day, it was learned today.

Scott Vining of the Vining and Smith station at Broadway and St. James street, said this morning that he had contacted operators of 20 stations and each of them was in favor of closing at 7 o'clock.

A few stations in the county and city, however, now that it has been announced that the nation is not faced with an immediate gasoline shortage, will remain open later in the evening.

Furniture Finishing Classes at Auditorium

Opening a series of four training schools in the refinishing of furniture at the municipal auditorium, Mrs. Lester Arnold of Modena standing at the extreme left in the photo above, told local leaders of the Ulster County Home Bureau that no project could bring more satisfaction to a woman than that of making a piece of furniture look its best. She recommended refinishing as a family activity for men as well as women enjoy making their homes beautiful.

Mrs. Arnold warned her class that anyone who does a "slapdash" kind of work is to be discouraged from undertaking this project. Refinishing calls for patience and perseverance but the results justify the effort. Illustrating this point she showed an oil finished piece often requiring 15 to 20 coats to produce the satiny effect desired.

Nine leaders in attendance and representing Home Bureau units who will carry on the refinishing work in units after Christmas brought chairs, mirrors, tables and chests to work on. They are Mrs. Ben Scholten and Mrs. Charles Palmer, Accord; Mrs. W. T. Hookey, Jr., Lake Katrine; Mrs. Eva Houghtaling, Lomontville; Mrs. Harry Simmons, Kingston; Mrs. Nels Nelson and Mrs. John Powell, Walkkill; Mrs. Eva Burt, Woodstock; Mrs. William Osterhoudt, Napanoch.

Willie and Floyd Receive Half Share in Millions, but One Wife Only Wants Alimony

Kansas City, Kas., Oct. 25 (AP)—A house with plumbing on a paved street . . . chickens . . . alimony . . . a farm in Kansas.

All these things floated before the eyes of two happy negro brothers—and their wives—as they recovered from the shock of being told their place in the sun had changed suddenly from day workers to millionaires.

Grins widened slowly across the faces of Willie and Floyd Mayweather as the full import of the news struck them. The two packing plant employees hardly could believe it at first—this news that a Sapulpa, Okla., court had given them one-half share in a $7,413,286 Oklahoma oil fortune, all in cash, not to mention 160 acres of land, 15 oil wells, shops and machinery.

The other half share goes to Ozora Alexander Lee, 65, of Claremore, Okla. Attorneys estimated the entire estate's value at between $10,000,000 and $15,000,000.

To Willie, it was quite a birthday present. He was 34 yesterday.

"Ah guess," he said slowly, "Ah'd like to buy a farm in Kansas and raise cattle. Ah want to hold on to my money."

"The court gonna give us all that money?" the 27-year-old Floyd asked incredulously. He said he wanted a chicken ranch.

Mrs. Willie Mayweather, to whom "everything went black" when a reporter brought her the news, decided a new house with plumbing on a paved street and maybe a new car would be nice.

It was a different story around the corner at the home of Mrs. Floyd Mayweather.

"Where do Ah come in?"

"Where do Ah come in? We're separated. Ah'm divorcing Floyd," she said. "Ah don't want no part of him."

"Ah's asking $7 a week alimony, but man you is a fool if you think the first thing in the morning Ah ain't gonna hurry right down and do a little manipulating with that figure."

At Claremore, Mrs. Lee accepted the news quietly.

"Don't know as I feel any different," she said. "I just feel that I got what was coming to me."

She said she hadn't made any plans for spending the money, except that she would give her son, Robert, 13, a "good education."

Mrs. Lee, a citizen of the Creek Nation, also received an allotment of land, although it was not an oil-producing area.

The ruling yesterday by District Judge C. O. Beavers eliminated a 10-year lawsuit. Mrs. Lee was described as a half-sister of Letie Kelson, Indian woman to whom the land originally was allotted.

The Mayweathers, Lee's nephews of Joe Stevens, Lee's negro husband.

The Sinclair and Minnehoma oil companies, the defendants, were instructed to pay the heirs the $7,413,286 in cash, which represents royalties and interest on oil and gas produced from the land since 1915.

Judge Beavers also ordered the companies to surrender at once control of the land, located between Drumright and Oilton, a gasoline plant and the 15 producing oil wells.

F. E. Laimbeer Dies Hempstead, N. Y., Oct. 25 (AP)—Francis E. Laimbeer, 79, former Republican state assemblyman, died yesterday of injuries suffered when he fell down a flight of stairs at his home. Born in New York, Laimbeer represented the 27th district in the Assembly in 1895 and 1896, and in 1899 served as a member of the Mazar committee, which investigated Richard Croker and other Tammany leaders.

The committee making arrangements for the show is shown above. They expect to have 110 in the cast. Stubs from tickets of both performances will admit holders to a dance Saturday after the show. Kansans Would Have Someone Shut Off Their Leaky Skies

Dust Bowlers Ask Where Guy Is Who Predicted Kansas Would Be Great Desert

Topeka, Kas., Oct. 25 (AP)—Just a few short years ago Kansas was praying for rain—now it wants someone to shut off the spigot.

It has been rain, rain, rain all year long. Since last May scarcely a week has gone by without some river going out of its banks. This week virtually every stream in central Kansas flooded.

Rain falls so copiously that Kansans have begun to believe there's an overhead pipeline direct from the Gulf of Mexico. And they're not so far wrong.

L. T. Pierce, federal weather forecaster at Kansas City, explains that a persistent low pressure area hanging over the Gulf of Alaska and high pressure areas to the southwest are responsible.

Without going into technical detail, he said, the net result is that moisture laden winds come up from the Gulf of Mexico area as though in a trough, hit colder temperatures coming from the north, unload—and go back for more.

The worst of it, Pierce said, is that those conditions show no inclination to change and the saturation cycle is likely to continue.

Up to October 1 the state's rainfall was 28.44 inches. Normal is 22.51. And thus far October has added five or six inches more. Back in the drought years of 1934 and 1936 the state's precipitation was only 20.02 and 18.31 inches.

And the old dust bowl? It's been muddy all year—even had a wet wheat harvest. Its rivers likewise have flooded several times.

That's the Kansas picture today. "Now where's the guy," demands the Kansas farmer sitting on his barn watching his hay stacks float down the river, and the city worker as he wades to work through knee-deep water, "who said this would become a great American desert?"

Model Railroad Club Will Hold Exhibition

The construction and operation of a miniature railroad system, accurately scaled one-quarter inch to the foot, will be on public display beginning Friday, October 31, and continuing through Sunday, November 3, at the headquarters of the Kingston Model Railroad Club, 541 Broadway, adjacent to the West Shore freight depot.

With the opening of the Kingston club's first annual show at 7 o'clock Friday evening, scheduled operation of eight trains will start a circuit of the "Hudson Valley Lines," which will continue for 10 days—rolling up many actual miles of detailed performance.

Approximately 75 varied pieces of rolling stock will see service between the hours of 7 and 10 o'clock week nights and 1 to 10 o'clock Sundays. Eight locomotives will be ready to roll the "Rip Van Winkle," "Empire Flyer," locals, fast freights and way-freights.

This exhibition also will afford camera fans an opportunity to try their skill in the photographing of detailed miniature work; and the railroad club is offering awards for the best photographs submitted to them for inspection.

Four years of co-operative effort has been necessary in order to present the first exhibition, and club officials state that "the completed system is still a dream of the future, but we believe we are now ready to display our contribution to one of the modern world's creative hobbies."

White Eagle Hall to Have 19th Anniversary Event

The 19th annual celebration of the opening of White Eagle Hall, owned by the Sacred Heart of Jesus and Mary Sick and Aid, Inc., will be held Sunday.

The society will celebrate that day by going to Immaculate Conception Church to attend a high Mass celebrated by the Rev. Stanislaus Malinowski, pastor and chaplain of the organization.

After the services a banquet will be held at White Eagle Hall. There will be dancing from 4 p. m. to 10 o'clock.

Monday a chicken supper will be served from 5 p. m. to 9 o'clock, followed by dancing. The public is invited to patronize this event.

Southerners 'O. K.' Says Pvt. McNally

Soldier Writes of Fine Treatment in South

Soldiers stationed in North Carolina have found southern hospitality at its best, writes Pvt. Thomas M. McNally, and he sees no signs to the effect that the southerners haven't forgotten the Civil War. The letter follows:

On Maneuvers in North Carolina October 20, 1941

Editor Kingston Daily Freeman Kingston, New York Dear Sir:

I am a member of the 186th Field Artillery, my home is in East Kingston and I would like the people of Kingston to know how we soldiers from the North are treated by the people of the South. To begin I might say that before I left my home station at Fort Ethan Allen, Vt., I was afraid at the thought of coming south as we heard from soldiers who were here and had returned, that the people here would have nothing to do with us, that we would not be able to buy a drink of any kind, and that people here had signs saying "Dogs or Soldiers Allowed."

I would like to brand this as one of the biggest lies I have ever heard. One thing is true, you can hardly buy a drink, most of it is given to us and in the city of Winston-Salem it was impossible to buy cigarettes and every soldier who goes there leaves with a week's supply of free ones. If the people of the North would do as much for the soldiers as they do here instead of telling stories of how they are still fighting the Civil War down here, it would do much for the morale of the army.

Of three thousand soldiers who visited Winston-Salem this past week-end every one stayed in a private home excepting those who had friends down from home to see them.

All in all there is only one thing a soldier can say, the only place he would be treated better is home. It is one thing to say "Glad to have you." Another thing to prove it as the people of the south do.

Englewood Cliffs, N. J., Oct. 25 (AP)—The Rustic Cabin, log cabin night club home of big name bands atop the Palisades, was swept by fire today. The blaze broke out at 7:30 a. m. and a short time later Fort Lee police said the sprawling roadhouse on Route 9W, a mile and a half north of the George Washington Bridge, was a mass of flames and burning out of control. Englewood, Englewood Cliffs and Fort Lee firemen responded to the alarm. The blaze was visible many miles around.
